

6 DAYS IN PATAGONIA NATIONAL PARK

The Patagonia National Park is an authentic hidden gem that exudes an intimate, peaceful and remote atmosphere. Here, nature flourishes in its most vibrant and thriving form, captivating visitors with pristine landscapes and extraordinary wildlife, giving a sense of having traveled back in time to a totally unexplored place.

Recommended Length of Stay: ~6 days, 5 nights.

How to get there?: Fly from Santiago to Balmaceda Airport. Afterward, you'll journey along a stretch of the iconic Carretera Austral by van until you arrive at our lodge. Alternatively, you have the option to take one of our air charters to the lodge ($1,140 per person, one way).

HIGHLIGHTS

Captivating explorations

The variety is for all tastes; trips to lagoons hidden in the mountains, e-bike rides among guanacos, kayaking on crystal-clear rivers or simply going hiking near the lodge, the park makes you feel like you have traveled back in time.

Wild encounters

Wild encounters Guanacos inhabit most corners of the park, while pumas, huemules (endangered Andean deer) and other fauna freely roam, making it the most safari-like experience in Patagonia.

An Exclusive lodge and experience

An Exclusive lodge and experience The lodge, with just 13 rooms, was built by Douglas and Kristin Tompkins built with locally sourced materials. Warm, friendly and noble materials invite you to contemplate the environment and go out to discover the Park.

DAY 1

---

Blow your mind away

Receive a warm welcome and take some time to stretch your legs by exploring the self-guided trails, or visiting the Tompkins Museum & Memorial.

DAY 2

---

Wake up to majestic views and prepare for a day of exploration.

Embark on a hike through a vast steppe region bordering the pristine Chacabuco River.

After lunch, go on a biking adventure across the Patagonian steppe, observing how it has been recovering its original nature little by little.

DAY 3

Rivers and lakes like no other

Venture into the enchanting landscapes of the Patagonian forest on a full-day hike. As you ascend, appreciate the captivating views of the slopes, surrounded by hills and high-plateau lagoons.

DAY 4

Paddle your way

Embark on a kayaking adventure along the Cochrane River, enjoying the tranquility and transparency of its waters and scenic beauty as you paddle.

Traverse native forests in the first half of the exploration, followed by a journey along the riverbank, offering views of the pampa and Patagonian steppe landscape.

DAY 5

Deeper into de Valley

On your final day, explore the natural corridors of the Chacabuco Valley. Notice the contrasting landscapes around you as you ascend, offering a different perspective.

Experience the serene silence of the landscape during autumn and winter, complemented by the melodious birdsong that fills the air during the rest of the year.
